DETAILED ACTION

The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors, e.g., typographical, grammar, idiomatic, syntax and etc. Applicants' cooperations are requested in correcting any errors of which applicants may become aware in the specification.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

- a). It is unclear what constitute the organic acid within the context of the claimed invention as it is not specified in the claims.
- b). The claims or at least part of the claims do not recite positive, explicit, physical process steps but recite the claims in passive terms. Note, for example, the recitation of "...by adding an organic acid.." in claim 1.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a)/ (b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over anyone of anyone of JP 2002-105484, JP 4-261497 or Zwaneburg et al (5,250,155).

Anyone of the above references is deemed to anticipates or renders obvious the "method for producing a fat, which comprises removing a part or all of fatty acids or their monohydric alcohol esters (FA) from a mixture (MX) containing triglycerides (TG) and fatty acids or their monohydric alcohol esters (FA) by distillation-refining, wherein the removal is performed by adding an organic acid" as broadly claimed in claim 1. See the abstract of each reference.

Claims 2-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over anyone of JP 2002-105484, JP 4-261497 or Zwaneburg et al (5,250,155) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Coleman et al (4,275,081).

That the mixture to be distilled in the process of anyone of the above references is a selective interesterification reaction product, as claimed in claim 2, would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art as such is taught by Coleman since all the references are directed the same processing environment, i.e., to a fat refining process. The claimed "95% or larger" in claims 3 and 8 is deemed to be a result-effective variable which ordinarily is within the skilled of the art.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- a). Barmentlo et al discloses a process wherein free fatty acids may be removed in a distillation step.
- b). Barnicki et al discloses a process including a series of distillation steps where the alcohol is converted to the less volatile fatty acid esters.
- c). Fimreite teaches a process wherein heating is necessary to prevent solidification while the citric acid is added to the process.
- d). Okawauchi et al discloses a process of combined interesterification and fractionation.
